10,000 Antelope in State Skelton Writes in Sportsman

Joe Skelton of This City Writes in the Oregon Sportsman About Number of Antelope in Oregon Now ---Tells True Story

By JOE SKELTON Since it has been unlawful to kill antelope in the state of Oregon at any season of the year, these animals have increased until now I think it can be safely said that Oregon has at least 10,000 within its boundaries. This is the conclusion C. M. Ramsby and myself arrived at after making a tour of the antelope country, under the direction of State Fish and Game Commissioner C. F. Stone, in order to ascertain their approximate numbers and the location of their range.

On Tuesday, August 1, E. A. Cress, Mr. Stone's law partner, Deputy Game Warden C. M. Ramsby and myself left Klamath Falls for Lakeview, where we talked with several people who were able to give us considerable information regarding the antelope range. The next day we left for the Barry ranch in Guano Valley, which lies in the southeastern part of Lake county, about six miles west of the Lake county-Harney county line and about five miles north of the Oregon-Nevada boundary.

Here we met Mr. Phil Barry. The Barry ranch is in rather an isolated part of the desert, where travelers are few and far between, and in all my knocking around I don't believe I ever met a more hospitable person. When asked if there were many antelope in the country, he said he had read the government reports on the approximate numbers of these animals in the United States, and he thought there were more antelope right there in a 40 or 50-mile circle than the government reports gave the whole United States credit for having.

"I've seen bunches of them coming in the fall that at a distance I have taken for a bunch of sheep," said Mr. Barry.

"About how many antelope do you think there are in the country?" I asked him.

"Well, it's pretty hard to estimate the exact number, but if you turned a bunch of 10,000 sheep loose and scattered them you never would find them again."

"Then you think there are at least 10,000 antelope in Lake and Harney counties?" I asked him.

"Yes," he answered. "I think 10,000 would be a very conservative estimate."

"They are scattered at this time of the year, but in the fall, when they collect in bunches, I think I could shoot and count 10,000 for you very easily. Antelope are bigger fools when it comes to following a leader than sheep are; if the leader of the bunch passes a certain place the others will follow and it is almost impossible to turn them, and," he continued, "I can get just as near an antelope with the slowest horse on the place as I can when riding the swiftest; they seem to know just about how far to keep ahead of a man on a horse."

"I never have time to bother with them, and while I guess there are a few killed in violation of the law, I don't think the number is very large."

I have no reason in the world to doubt Mr. Barry's statements, and judging from the tameness of the sage hens about his place, I don't think he hunts a great deal. Mr. Barry had no reason for exaggerating the number of antelope in his estimate, and I think his word can be relied upon, and a man living in the country as long as he has certainly ought to know.

The next morning he gave us saddle horses, which, by the way, he wouldn't charge a cent for, and we rode to a water hole about five miles from his place.

He was busy haying and was unable to accompany us, but we found the hole all right and, leaving our horses tied to some juniper trees, we watched the hole. In the short time we were there we saw 10 or 12 antelope come in for water, and there is no telling just how many more we might have counted had we stayed longer.

They are very inquisitive creatures; one old buck in particular followed us at a distance for quite a way.

All the sportsmen of Lakeview have the same ideas as to the numbers of antelope in Lake county and they think it is unfair to them that the season is closed in Oregon, while just across the state line in Nevada, a few miles away, there is an open season. They say the antelope are raised and fattened in Oregon, and then because large numbers of them go to Nevada for their winter range, the hunters of that state get to kill them. They feel that the animals belong to Oregon and that Oregon hunters should be permitted to get them without getting a non-resident hunting license and going to Nevada to do it.

The numbers of antelope in that country vary in different years. I presume, according to the amount of feed and water.

Although I have killed antelope on the prairies of Canada, I never saw antelope in Oregon until this trip, and I and the other members of the party are satisfied that these animals are plentiful and that there are at least 10,000 of them in this state. And may be the sportsmen of Lake county are right in thinking the game laws of this state unfair, when they are prohibited from killing at least one buck antelope a year when the hunters in Nevada can kill Oregon-raised, Oregon-fattened antelope after they cross the line into that state.

MRS. WILSON HAS THE LAST WORD

PRESIDENT'S WIFE NOW IS ULTIMATE AUTHORITY ON ALL INVITATIONS TO WHITE HOUSE SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—Mrs. Wilson today is the "ultimate authority" on all invitations to White House social functions. For the first time in years, management of these events has been transferred from the executive offices to the mansion proper.

As a result, the number of invited guests to the state events has fallen off between 50 and 60 per cent.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTHERS YOU

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acids in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly back-ache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

BACKS LAW TO KILL CORSETS

HOOSIER WOMAN OF 100 POUNDS WITH ONE PIECE DRESS SAYS CORSETS CAUSE MORE DEATHS THAN DRUGS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 8.—A law to prohibit women wearing corsets will be advocated before the Indiana legislature now in session, by Mrs. Anna Hoeltke Lee of this city. Mrs. Lee declares corsets cause more damage than whiskey and have destroyed more people than drugs. Mrs. Lee herself weighs about 100 pounds and wears a one piece dress and admits she comes nearer being a Venus de Milo than a woman with a seventeen inch waist.

"TIZ" FOR TIRED AND SORE FEET

USE "TIZ" FOR PUFFED-UP, BURNING, ACHING, CALLOUSED FEET AND CORNS

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

"Tiz" makes your feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "Tiz" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot torture.—Adv.

"Grand Old Man of the Diamond" Gets Married

Hans Wagner, "grand old man of the diamond," now twenty years in base ball, at the age of 43 has got married. Miss Bessie Smith of Crafton, a suburb of Pittsburg, is the party of the first part in the agreement. She is 26 years of age.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre, and gives it an appearance of abundance. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

You are hereby required to appear and answer to the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the 10th day of January, 1917, that being the last day of the time prescribed in the order of publication of this summons, and if you fail so to appear, plead, answer, demur, or otherwise move, for want thereof plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in his complaint, to-wit:
